

Interested in school-based research in Religious Education?

Have you ever wanted to further your own knowledge and understanding in RE? Perhaps wanted to keep up to date with current initiatives in RE but were not sure where to go? Or maybe you have always wanted to carry out some class based research but were unsure of how to start this up? Or simply would welcome the opportunity to meet with like-minded teachers to discuss and debate areas of shared interest? If so, the Reading and Research group is for you!

South Central RE Hub Reading and Research Group

Dates of Spring 2016 and Summer 2016 Meetings

Mon 1 February 2016 : Key Speaker Dr. Janet Orchard
Bristol University – Do teachers need educational theory?

Mon 21 March 2016: Sharing Research
(from Hampshire and Beyond)

Tuesday 19 April: Key Speaker: Professor Adam Dinham
Professor of Faith & Public Policy, Head of Community Studies & Head of Research: Goldsmiths University of London.

RE for Real : The role of RE in public life – religious literacy

Wednesday 6th July 2016: Sharing Research

Time : 16.30 – 18.30

Venue: Winchester University

The reading and research group is an important initiative of the South Central RE Hub - a group consisting of representatives from SACREs in the region, as well as teachers, academics and RE advisers. The purpose of the hub is to provide coordinated opportunities for the development of outstanding RE leadership in all phases of education.

Attendance is open to all teachers from all key stages.

There will be opportunities for teachers to credit their research and development work at Masters level and to work towards a Masters degree in Education.

More more information contact: patricia.hannam@hants.gov.uk

