Description of current service/policy

Hampshire County Council has been a member of the Partnership for Urban South Hampshire (PUSH) since its creation in 2003. PUSH was established to enable joint working between the constituent authorities, and in particular to promote the sustainable, economic-led growth and development of South Hampshire, supported by enhanced transport and other infrastructure. The County Council has played a significant role within PUSH and PfSH in order to support the principles of sustainable economic development and ensure that the character and environment of southern Hampshire, including the rural areas, are properly considered and protected.
