Whitehill & Bordon Relief Road Phase 1

March 2016 Issue 2

Project partners

Hampshire County Council is delivering the new relief road for Whitehill & Bordon with funding from the Homes and Communities Agency. The relief road forms part of Whitehill & Bordon's wider regeneration project, which involves Hampshire County Council, the Homes and Communities Agency, East Hampshire District Council, the Defence Infrastructure Organisation, Enterprise M3 Local Enterprise Partnership and developers.

The scheme

Raymond Brown Construction is responsible for building the first phase of the new relief road, the 1km northern section through Louisburg Barracks that connects with the A325. Within the site of the barracks, two roundabouts will provide access to the development areas to the north and south of the road. A third roundabout will be constructed to connect the relief road to the A325.

Programme of work

B3002 Lindford Road works

On Monday 1 February 2016, essential drainage works began on Lindford Road. Raymond Brown Construction is carrying out these works under a single lane closure. Five-way traffic signals are in effect on the B3002 Lindford Road and A325 Farnham Road. The works are scheduled to take up to eight weeks.

Diversion route preparatory work

Once the drainage work in Lindford Road is complete, the next task will be to carry out the enabling works required to implement the diversion route.

The diversion route will avoid the A325 Farnham Road connection to the new road while the connecting roundabout and associated infrastructure is constructed.

The diversion requires temporary changes to the road layout at the junction of the A325 Farnham Road and B3004 Broxhead Farm Road, which involves removing the traffic islands and revising the road markings at this location.

These enabling works are planned to take place after the Easter Bank Holiday over a period of two weeks. During this time, Broxhead Farm Road will be closed temporarily at the A325 Farnham Road end and the A325 traffic will be managed by temporary two-way traffic lights.

All temporary traffic management will be removed during the Easter bank holiday weekend.

Farnham Road A325 new roundabout construction

Once all the above enabling work is complete, attention will turn to the construction of the roundabout that will tie the new road in with the A325 Farnham Road. This phase is expected to start in the early part of April and includes surface water drainage, landscaping, signage and streetlighting, realignment of the A325 and resurfacing the junction of the A325 Farnham Road and B3002 Lindford Road.

A road closure will be in operation on the A325 Farnham Road between the B3002 Lindford Road and B3004 Broxhead Farm Road for the duration of the works.

During construction of the new roundabout with the A325 Farnham Road, access for vehicles will be maintained to all properties and businesses on the section of road closure.

Depending on the direction of approach, this may involve taking the diversion route, as access by vehicles will not be possible through the works. Pedestrian access will be maintained through the site at all times.

Further information about these and future works will be available on the project website at www.whitehillandbordonreliefroad.co.uk.

Minimising disturbance

Raymond Brown Construction is committed to ensuring that its presence and the works on behalf of Hampshire County Council have minimal adverse impact on the community.

We are sorry for any inconvenience caused when the temporary five-way traffic signals were first introduced to the B3002 Lindford Road and A325 Farnham Road junction in the early part of February. Since then, we have been working very closely with everyone involved to remedy the situation.

The timing of the traffic light phasing has been adjusted to reduce delays and traffic will continue to be closely monitored to determine whether further changes are required. At peak times the signals are being operated manually and we have found this has helped improve the flow of traffic significantly.
